Make waves with your images of fun on the water

Summer's here, the surf's up and Kent, with more miles of coastline than any other county in the UK, is the perfect place to make the most of it.

Whether you are a watersports beginner or an expert, www.kentsplash.co.uk has all you need to know to get you out on the water this summer – plus a great chance to win a one-day kite surfing course and windsurfing vouchers.

The website, created by Visit Kent, is a comprehensive guide to where to head for waterborne activities including canoeing, jet skiing, kite surfing, sailing, surfing, wakeboarding, waterskiing and windsurfing. The website includes contacts for courses if you are an absolute beginner or looking to hone your skills.

There are also suggestions for where to stay from campsites to hotels or hostels to B&Bs, ideas for what to do away from the water and local weather forecasts to make sure you enjoy the best possible conditions.

Now www.kentsplash.co.uk wants you to show the rest of the world just what an exciting watersports destination Kent is.

Upload pictures or videos of you and your friends enjoying Kent's great coastline, and the best examples of each will win a one day kite surfing course at Surface to Air Sports, Folkestone, and a £100 gift voucher for Whitstable Windsurfing.

"You don't have to be a watersports professional, we're simply looking for fun, entertaining and inspiring pictures and videos taken by people in action along Kent's coast," said Cheryl Parker, Visit Kent's Kent Coastal Project Manager.

"Share your exciting experiences with others and show off your new skills to the world."

Closing date for entries is March 31, 2010, so if you are a watersport wannabe, you have plenty of time to visit www.kentsplash.co.uk, find a sport, enjoy a day out and enter your video or photos for the competition.
